

Headrest / Neckrest for HD Balance

There are two types of support for the patient's head / neck, Headrest (A) and Neckrest (B).

Headrest

The headrest gives a slightly larger support for the head and the shape provides a comfortable support to the sides. The lower part is slightly bevelled in order to not give pressure in the nape. The headrest can also be turned upside down if a thicker and rounder shape in the nape is desirable.

The headrest is available in three models:

Basic: With a headrest cushion without side adjustability (C)

Side: With a side adjustable headrest cushion (D)

Neckrest

The neckrest (B) is slightly smaller and acts as a support in the nape of the more active user.

The neckrest is available in two models:

Side: With a side adjustable neckrest cushion (F)

Side Support

Side support is used when the patient has an increased need for lateral stability on one or both sides. The side supports are reversible and can be used on the left or right side. Side support cushions are the same for the headrest and neckrest. The bends, however, differ in the form.

The side support is available in two models:

Fix: Side support with fixed angle for headrest (H)

Vario: Side support with adjustable angle for headrest (I) and for necksupport (J)

Adjustments

The head- / neckrest consists of two parts; an extension bar (K) which is mounted in the bracket on the back of the wheelchair, and a head- / neckrest bar (L) with a cushion. The head- / neckrest can be adjusted in height (24 cm) – depth (10 cm) using knobs. The angle of the cushion (M) and the angle between the headrest bar and extension bar are adjustable without tools.

Tip!

Use the profile stop that enables to always set the head- / neckrest in the same position (accessory).
